LIVING ON A JET PLANE

1. Read the text about Joanne Ussery and answer the questions.

- 1. How old is she?
- 2. Where does she live?
- 3. How old is her home?
- 4. How many grandsons does she have?
- 5. How many bedrooms are there?
- 6. How many toilets are there?

Joanne Ussery, 54, from Benoit, Mississippi, is a big favorite with her two grandsons because she lives on a jet plane. Her home is a Boeing 727, so a visit to grandma is very special.

Joanne's front door is at the top of the plane's steps, but you don't need a ticket or a passport when you visit. There are three bedrooms, a living room, a modern kitchen, and a luxury bathroom. The bathroom is in the cockpit, with the bathtub under the windows. Next to this is Joanne's bedroom - in the first class section of the plane. Then, there's the living room with four emergency exit doors, which she opens on summer evenings. On the wall there's a photo of the plane flying for Continental Airlines from Florida to the Caribbean. There are also four toilets, all with No Smoking signs.

"The plane is 27 years old and it's the best home in the world," says Joanne. "It has all the things you want in a home: a telephone, air conditioning, an oven, a washing machine, even a dishwasher. It's always very warm even in winter, and it's very big - 42 meters long! My grandchildren love running up and down. And my friends love parties here although there aren't any flight attendants to serve them their drinks!"

The plane cost Joanne just $2,000. "Next time," she says, "I want a Boeing 747, not a 727, because they have an upstairs and a downstairs, and I want to go upstairs to bed!"

Technology to save the world

Read the text carefully

Zea Tongeman is a 14-year-old girl inspired by her IT (information technology) teacher Mr. Talbert to participate in a competition called Apps for Good. She decided to participate with her friend Jordan Stirbu. They both designed an application (App) called Jazzy Recycling.

Zea says that a lot of people want to recycle and take care of our world and environment, but often have problems knowing what to recycle and where. So Zea and her friend created Jazzy Recycling, an app that solves the problem and makes recycling fun and productive.

Jazzy Recycling helps you find places to recycle what you can recycle, and then makes it possible for you to look, share and get bonuses for what you recycle. The girls think that using social networks like Facebook, Twitter and Instagram can really help and motivate young people to recycle more.

Zea says: "Technology is not about fixing computers and chatting on Facebook; I realized that technology is much more, technology is in everything now and we can do whatever we like with it. We are the new generation, and we can use it as a tool to do all sorts of different things. I think that if we have people using our App, we can make a difference and help the world and I feel that is something incredible".

To build the App, the girls are receiving help from Raj Dhonota, who is a business consultant. Zea and Jordan are very excited about the future and hope to see great results after presenting the App in early 2014. The idea is that everyone can use this App; children can download games to learn how to recycle, teachers and parents can use it to learn and also teach kids in a fun way, and of course, teenagers who want to keep a clean and green planet are going to benefit from it.
